

Communication line

Add-on. Flat fee for up to 60 minutes. Additional time billed in 30-minute increments.

A communication line is an additional, dedicated voice line between the operator and conference speakers. The communication line is used to coordinate the conference behind the scenes and is useful for coordinating meeting logistics and troubleshooting. For example, the communication line may be used to prioritize questions for question and answer sessions.

The communication line is opened during the pre-conference (15 or 30 minutes before going live) and stays open for the duration of the conference for up to 60 minutes.
